No, I'm not. Well you're a Senior now doesn't feel? I don't know but Junior is fun. Thanks for all the luck with M.O. I'd wish you luck with Cawey (RP) but you guys are doing fine by yourselves. I hope you make it through the year ok. Do you realize we've been wasted together, shared our heartbreaks. We've been through a hell of a lot and people have tried to pull us apart for a long time and we've succeeded to out smart them, and we'll do it again and again. We're a team. Not even a hurricane can separate us maybe a free bag of refer. Can you tell I'm with. Well girl I'm not sure if you want me just to write on this page or both of these. And since I'm running out of things to say I won't sign my name until then its clear. Take it easy or anyway you can. Have a great life (without me - never) Everyone should have one. Sorry our < your lockers always crowded that's what you get when you're popular < haha just kidding I know you're not popular just unique. I'm unique blue-red cut huh. Well Believe it or not I'm finally getting around to writing this. It seems like every time we wanted something or somebody there's always someone in one way or another screwing things up for me. Like I said when first saw you one day she will be mine. I wanted my turn I thought I was a like time. Now that Bill Kuer has screwed up everything as he really does. You now I would never go out on you. I wanted along time to have you to myself. and I wouldn't want to screw up what we have. I now I've probably hurt you too much I shouldn't do that. But we never been the best with words half the time I don't now what to say or do. Women have always been one of my worst areas. I been used to much and cheated on more than my share. I should trust you more but with my track record it's time for to put more trust in you and get over my complex problems, enough with that stubble now to start remembering the best times were had and may more to come. Remember poor old Ray got Bless his soul. and how pissed at early got. and the time you two ^{fuck} you come over for hair. nice girl Rod save you a couple and didn't get any thanks for it. what's about prom, me in that double suit now that wasn't me. The only way I can see myself is with my Blue jeans on a case under my finger nails out on my nose and my tatty old hat. That never leaves my head. and you by my side. I can say one thing you do a great job at washing my car. I know you'll probably have been reading this I'm a sleepy winter. well I did it a gain I double negated myself I could write more but only I can say the rest.

Love
you

BELOW: Linda Simon, Miss Iowa 1982, and Sioban Stookey, 1981 Homecoming Queen, served as Grand Marshals for the Homecoming Parade.

1982-83 turned out to be a year of many trials and tribulations for many Americans. The recession deepened to the point where numerous local and national businesses were forced to fold. Unemployment became a very serious problem for many parts of our country. These problems concern us all; for many the future is indeed uncertain.

The scene throughout the world became more complex with each passing day. Great Britain and Argentina squabbled over an obscure and isolated group of islands in the South Atlantic Ocean called the Falkland Islands. The British eventually recaptured the islands which had been seized by the Argentines. The Middle East remained a controversial political area. The World was shocked at the news coming out of Beirut when it learned that hundreds of innocent people had been killed needlessly. The solution to these and many problems is still cloudy. Though they are far away these things concern all of us.

In December of '82 all eyes were on the Soviet Union. Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev died of a brain hemorrhage and was succeeded by Yuri Andropov a former KGB chief. Many Americans waited in anxious anticipation to foresee future U.S.-Soviet relations. The Soviets also made the news in January of '83 when one of their nuclear powered satellites plunged into the Indian Ocean some 1,000 miles west of a U.S. military installation. The Soviets claimed that there was no danger of nuclear contamination. Polish Solidarity leader Lech Walesa was released after a long period of captivity but Martial Law is still being enforced in Poland. Closer to home, Congress passed a new law establishing a tax increase of five cents per gallon on gasoline. This new law is certain to affect the driving habits of many high school students.

Construction began in September '82 on a new vo-ag facility with later construction to follow on a band and physical education building.

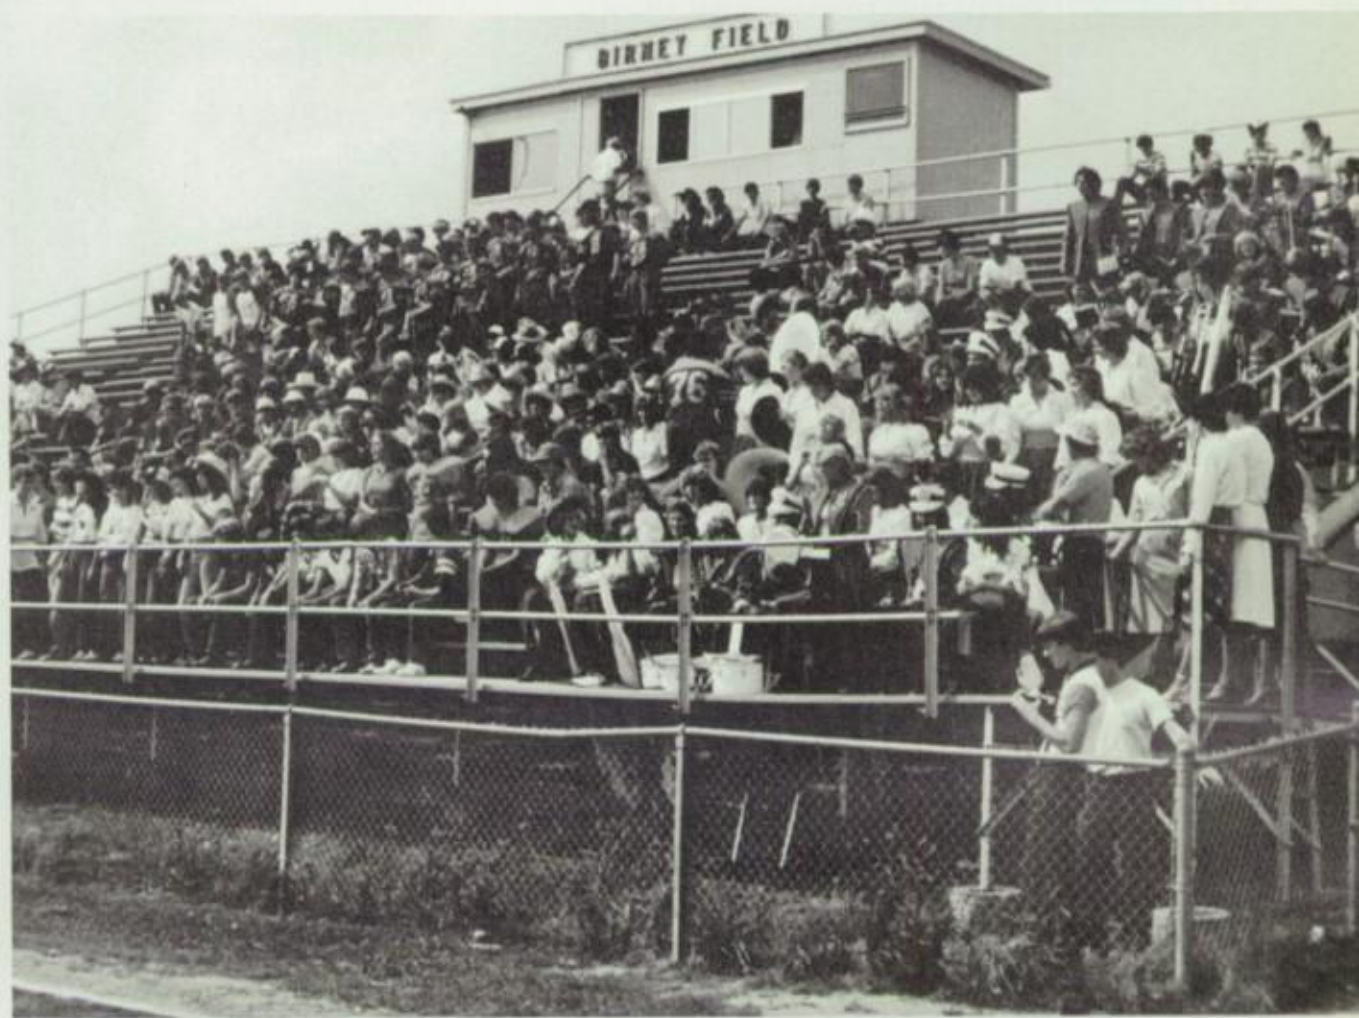

The volleyball team won four weekend tournaments, more than any other team in the state, en route to a 25-5-1 match record. The most successful season in the history of Saber volleyball came to an abrupt halt when the Sabers lost to the Clinton River Queens in the second round of the District tournament. The football team had high expectations at the beginning of the season but inexperience cost the Sabers their first four games before they put it together to win their last five in order. Both boy's and girl's cross country teams enjoyed their share of success. The boys placed 11th at the State Cross Country Meet.

The Central Saber Marching Band, Flag Corps, and all new Rifle Corps entertained halftime audiences with several popular selections. The Central drama department presented "Blithe Spirit" a comical farce by Noel Coward, as the fall play.

On the political scene in Iowa, Terry Branstad and Roxanne Conlin engaged in a highly publicized battle of words for the governorship. The two battled for the position held for sixteen years by the country's senior governor Robert D. Ray.

Hometown beauty Linda Simon was crowned Miss Iowa and competed for the coveted Miss America title in Atlantic City. Though she was not among the top ten finalists, she received a special talent award.

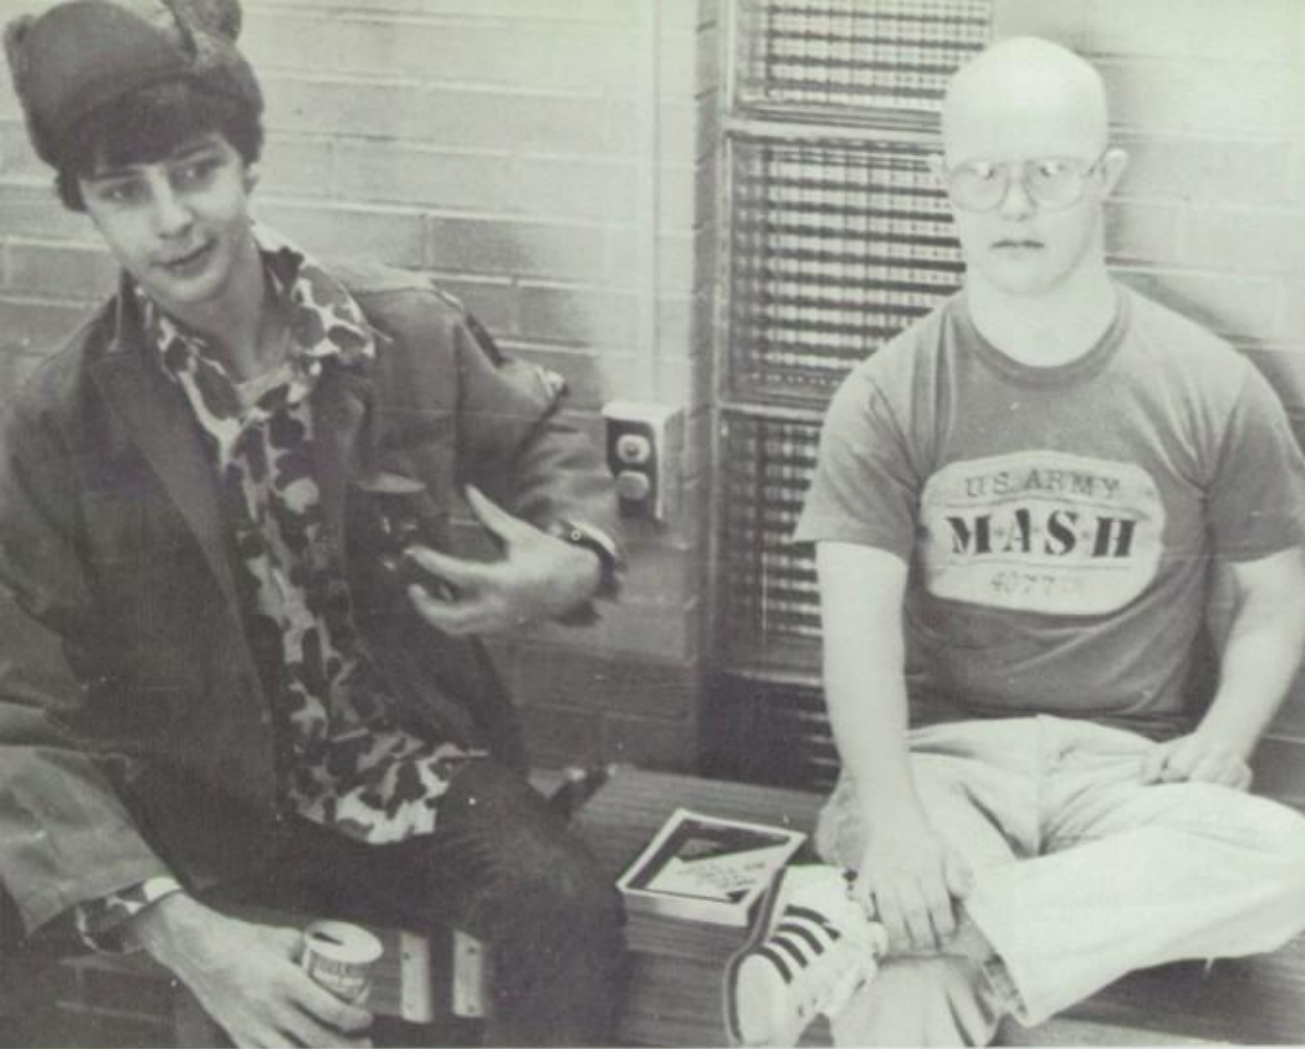

On the show biz scene, box office hits "E.T. — The Extra-Terrestrial", "An Officer and a Gentleman," "Rocky III" and "Tootsie" entertained huge audiences. The popular TV series "M*A*S*H" completed its final season after eleven years.

The Stray Cats, Asia, and Men At Work were three new groups coming into popularity. The Doobie Brothers and The Who made their final concert appearances.

Central's changing scene included the "Preppy Look," leg warmers, and the infamous "Valley Gal slang" (like, gag me with a spoon, totally). Not only did the styles and attitudes of Central change, but also Central's physical appearance. A new vocational agricultural building was added to the facilities and construction got underway for the band, weight and physical education expansion.

With the ever increasing popularity of home computers, an introductory class was offered to seniors who had interest in this field. Another new class for selected students was Peer Counseling under the direction of Mr. Hetrick and Mrs. Raikes.

These are the major happenings at Central and in the world around Central. These events have been recorded.

Homecoming 1982

The 1982 Homecoming was rounded out with a week of rousing activities memorable to all. The festivities included the construction of floats, New Wave day, M*A*S*H Mania, and School Spirit day. The annual Homecoming parade, with an all new route, took place on Friday. Students, faculty and band members endured 98° heat, all for school spirit. Kirk Azinger was crowned king at the afternoon pep rally and Kathy Ostert was crowned queen that night.

The entire week culminated in a decisive victory for the then winless Sabers as they trounced Mater Dei 55-0. The sophomore Sabers scored a 28-0 victory. A gala Homecoming celebration followed the game. Students, alumni, and faculty members boogied the night into the wee hours of the morning. Students proceeded to celebrate in their own fashion thus settling fond memories of Homecoming 1982.

Special Homecoming appearances were made by Miss Iowa, Linda Simon, the astute alumni band, Central's own Saber-tooth tiger (alias Larry Burken), Spirit Week enthusiast Kelly Kimmer, and General George Patton (alias Doug Casad).

"Blithe Spirit" the Fall Play

Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" was this year's fall play. This was Mrs. Julie Doom's first major undertaking as a director. Confidence of its quality wavered during the six weeks of practice, but with help from lead actors Ken Untiedt, Ellen Wagener, and Melissa Martin, "Blithe Spirit" was performed with near impeccable accuracy.

The plot consisted of a prominent English writer, Mr. Charles Condomine, and his second wife Ruth who engage in a séance with the help of a professional London medium, Madame Arcati. Although in a spirit of mockery, the séance managed to materialize Mr. Condomine's first wife, Elvira. The fact that Elvira is only visible to her husband creates a uniquely humorous irony.

The chaos thickens as the ghost of Elvira accidentally murders Ruth, who joins Elvira on the Other Side. While the two wives battle between themselves and Mr. Condomine, Madame Arcati frantically tries to send them back where they came from.

Being roughly shoved into the high school comes as a shock to many sophomores. It is a time to experience new people, new systems, and new classes. Of course, the most belittling aspect of being sophomore is being one of the youngest kids in school.

All of the sophomores this year have reacted differently to the advanced privileges and responsibilities which are associated with their grade and age. Most students enjoy their privileges but are wary of their newly acquired responsibilities. As one sophomore put it, "When it comes to privileges and responsibilities, I'll take the privileges any time."

Becoming a sophomore means that many students have reached a stage in life. Those who turn sixteen gain the privilege of driving a car unaided, and those who aren't yet old enough simply enjoy participating in high school curriculum and extra-curricular activities.

It is commonly said that, "Being a sophomore is a lot better than being a freshman," and in many aspects this is true. Although some sophomores believe they are being stereotyped as "stupid," most feel that much respect is gained in the process.

Becoming a sophomore and going to the Central Community High School is a stepping stone to some and a plateau to others. In any case, most sophomores acknowledge the step as an important part of growing up.

Mindy Taylor has been involved in gymnastics since she was five years old. Her parents got her interested in the sport and she began practicing in her coach's basement. Later on she belonged to a club and competed on that level until she became a freshman. She now represents Central as the school's gymnastics team.

Mindy competes in five events among them the uneven bars, balance beam, floor exercise, the vault, and tumbling. Although gymnastics is still somewhat obscure to most people at Central, Mindy hopes more people will take the opportunity to attend a meet and show their support for Central's gymnastics team.

This year's juniors had no trouble fitting into their new role as upperclassmen. Most juniors had little trouble keeping themselves busy. Central offers many ways in which a junior may occupy his/her time. Indeed, no one has to look very far for something to do at Central, but this year's juniors were an exception in that they really went all-out to participate. Several juniors held key positions on all of the varsity athletic teams, while others sought success on the junior varsity. Lots of juniors were active in various school clubs and activities including music, dramatics and cheerleading.

Perhaps the most memorable experience for juniors is preparing for and helping plan the prom. Each junior took his/her turn working in the concession stand during boys basketball games to help raise money for their class. Throughout the year the juniors found lots of way to have fun and create memories.

Seniors Anticipate Their Futures

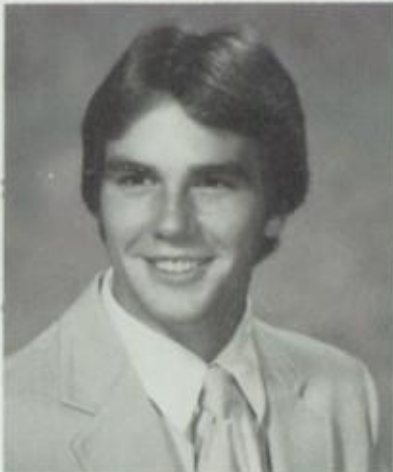

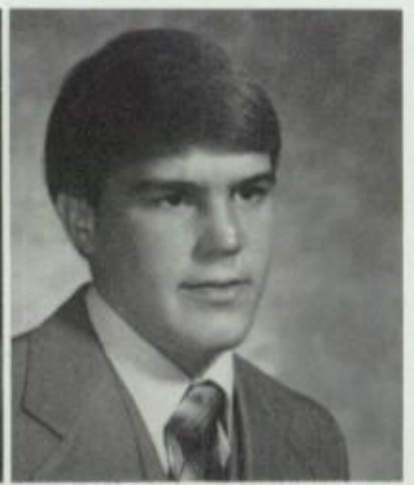

At the beginning of the '82-83 school year all seniors had a lot to look forward to. After all, this was the last year of school and before long everybody would get his/her shot at the real world.

For the seniors planning to attend college, much care had to be taken to make sure the various applications and forms were filled out correctly and mailed on time. For some who were considering several schools the process was even more complicated. A major concern for many college bound seniors was the dwindling supply of money available for financial assistance. Despite all these hurdles, most seniors will say they are anxiously awaiting college.

As for those not attending college, many will be working after graduation, and a growing number have enlisted in the available military branches.

High school holds a lot of memories for all — some to be cherished, and some to be forgotten. For seniors it is a special time. At this point in their lives they have a lot to look back on, and a lot more to look forward to.

Seniors Have Busy Fall

Fall at Central is full of fun, activities and tradition. Seniors were able to find plenty of things to keep busy, the foremost of these being sports. Classes gave some adequate occupation, but many still found time to be involved in clubs, groups, band, jazz band, choir and cheerleading. In the fall, the Seniors spent their after school hours practicing, attending sports events, or just plain bummin' around.

Fall also brings the excitement of Homecoming. The senior float won first place in the Homecoming float competition.

The Winter Scene — Always Busy

To say the winter of '82-'83 was mild could be classified as an understatement. Rain during Christmas vacation dampened the skiers' spirits, but January and February brought snow and cold.

Besides snow and cold, winter also means basketball and wrestling. Even though both the boys' and girls' basketball teams were composed largely of juniors, one cannot overlook the importance of having experienced seniors on the squad. On the wrestling side of things, seniors played a key role in the success of the Saber team. Senior standouts Kirk Azinger and Don Salyars advanced all the way to the State Wrestling Tournament where Azinger earned 5th place at 126 lbs. and Salyars captured the Heavyweight state championship.

Good Luck Class of '83

As the school year came to a close and nice spring weather finally began to settle in, the Class of '83 began to prepare for graduation. Announcements and invitations had to be made out and mailed, and everybody scrambled to finish last minute assignments and projects. Naturally the seniors had plenty of parties to attend and everybody wondered if the senior party would take place.

Looking back on their high school years, the Class of '83 realized that those years held a lot of things. Though the thoughts change from person to person, one could no doubt find at least one fond memory in the thoughts of each senior.

Clubs, Social Organizations and Classrooms

State of the Arts

The state of the arts at Central remained the same as they have for numerous years. The reason being Mrs. Malooly's continual dominance of the art room. One only needs to look at the attempts at art of other teachers to realize how frustrated it is for her in her job.

The art program is made up of — Introduction to Art, Individualized Art, and specialized classes in painting, lettermaking/signmaking, drawing, printmaking, fiber design, and ceramics. The student in Intro Art selects, from the list of specialized classes, the ones that they would like to take.

Business

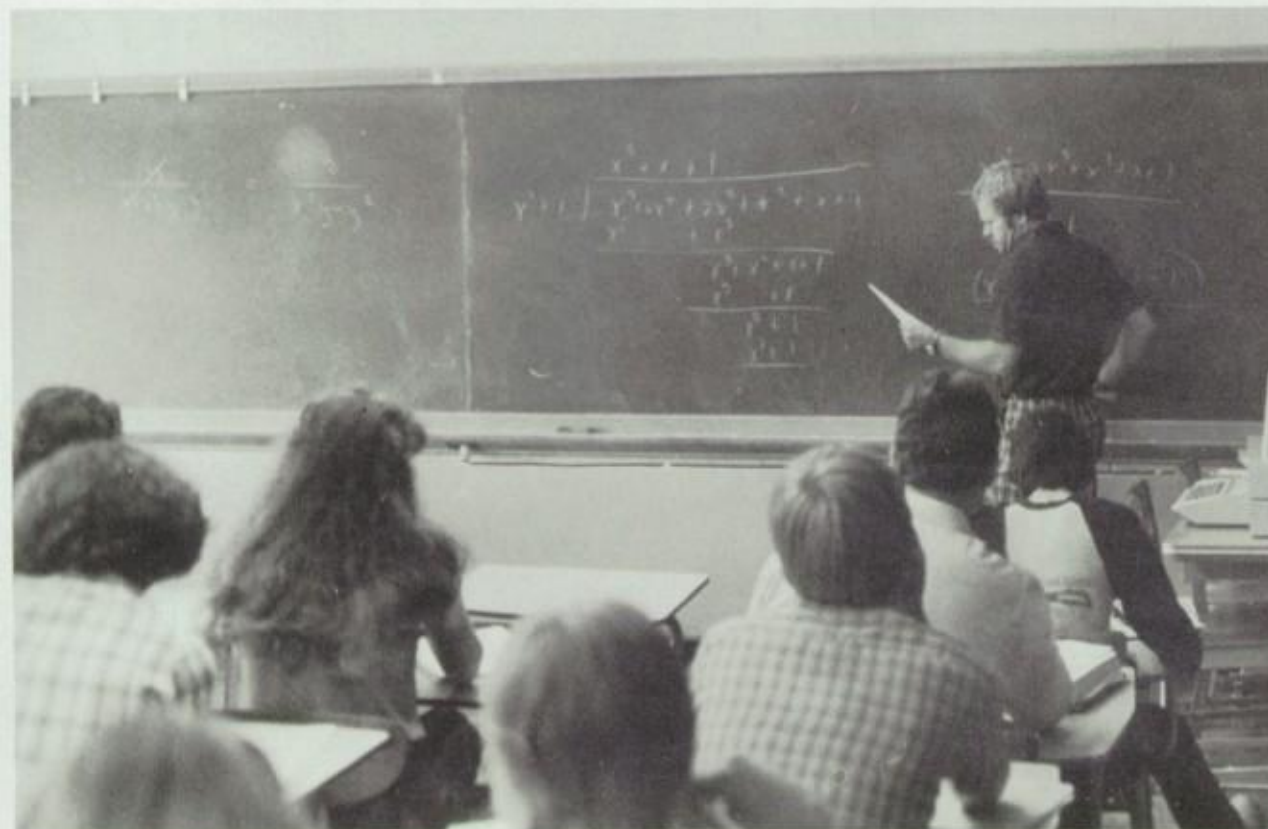

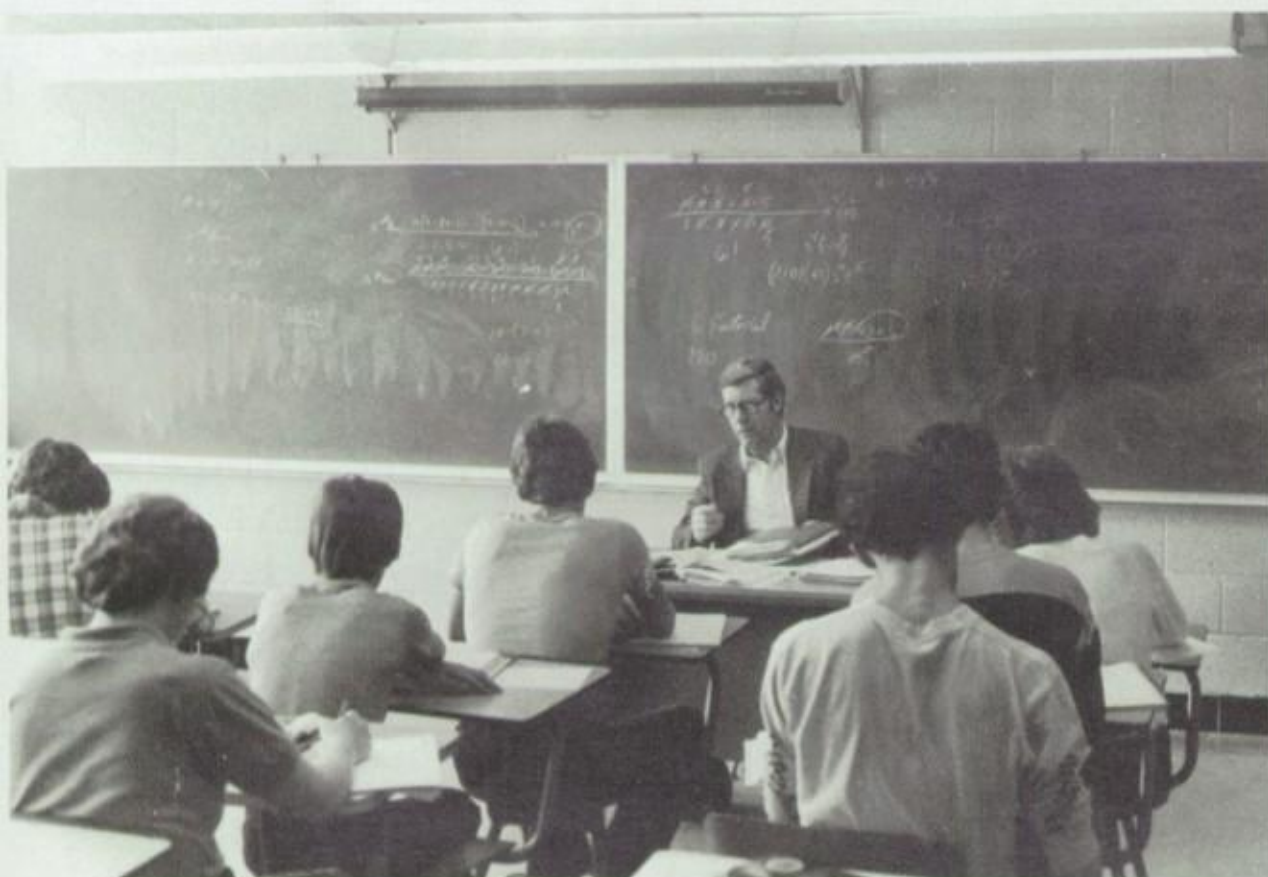

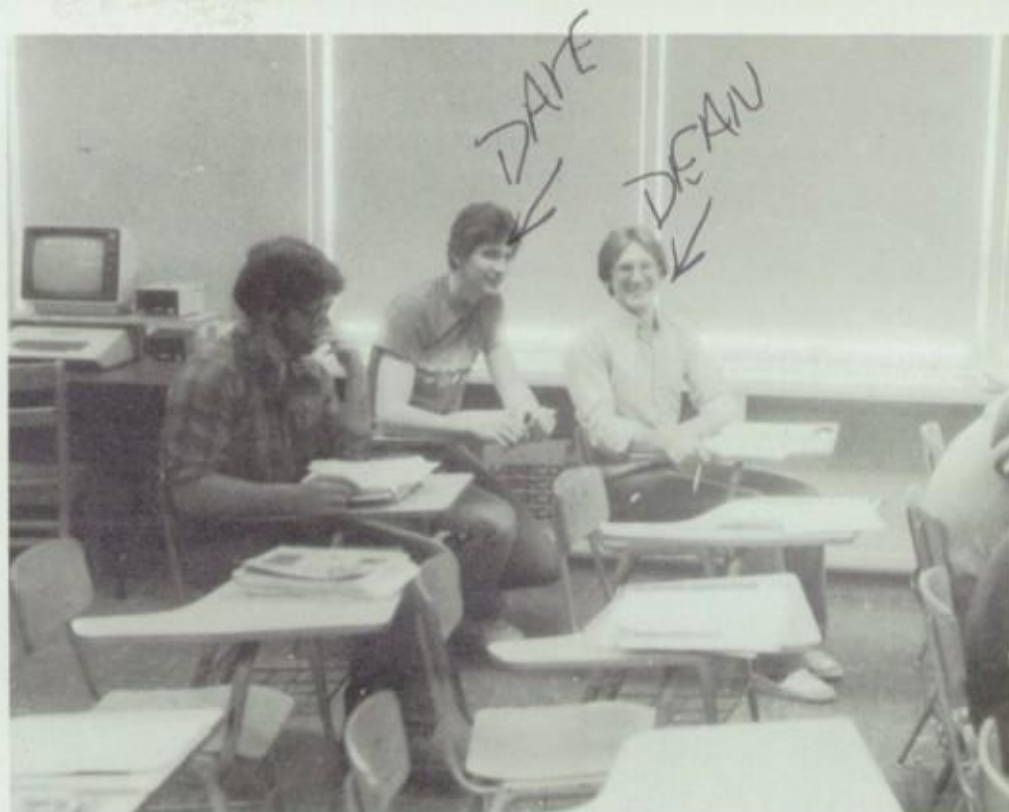

The business curriculum at Central offers a wide variety of classes ranging from general business to shorthand. Mr. Schnurr and Mr. Christie instruct the business students with the help from Mr. Law, a student teacher from UNI.

Mr. Christie helped students through the trials and tribulations of typing, as well as many other classes. By the time the students left typing class, most of them could type their name fairly accurately. Both Mr. Christie and Mr. Schnurr continued to baffle students with their uncanny wit and bizarre sense of humor. Many students enjoyed Mr. Schnurr's infamous quotes of the week.

At the end of the year, many business students realized they had learned irreplaceable knowledge, and they'd had a good time doing it.

Central Math Headquarters

Math classes offered at Central include essential math, geometry, algebra I and II, introduction to college mathematics, and computer science. This was the first year a formal computer class was offered. Students had a chance to try out the five new Apple II computers on math, science, and business programs. Of course sophomores still struggled through mind boggling geometry, and the juniors and seniors waded their way through algebra II and college math, but helpful hints from Mr. Beck, Mr. Borland, and Mr. Utter pulled them through.

At CHS, We Make History

The Social Science's department requires that students take world history as sophomores, American history as juniors, and American government as seniors. Along with these three classes, students must take one of the following: sociology, psychology, economics and international relations (senior seminar), or modern problems.

Each of Central's Social Science instructors has a unique style all his own; whether it be Mr. Beilnberg's love of Indians, Mr. Cederoth's attraction to books for sources, or Mr. Spangler's deep-seeded affection for overhead projectors.

Regardless of the teacher, Central students usually learned a lot about both history and current events, because today's current events are tomorrow's history.

Central English Department

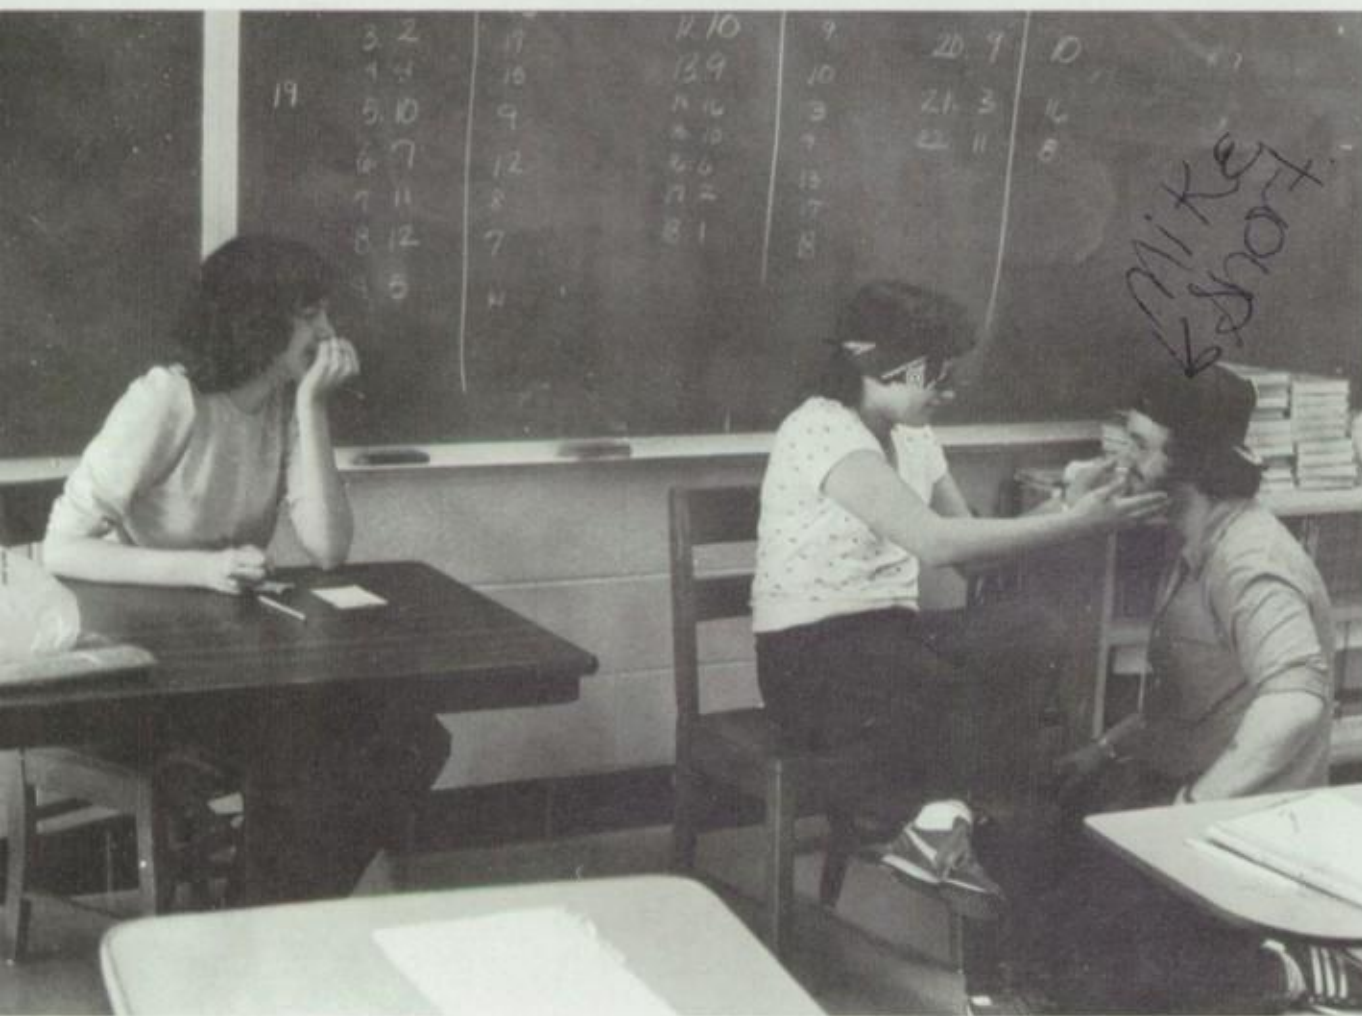

BELOW: Dana King and Mr. Williams speculate on the condition of Mr. Williams' checkbook after he is married.

The English department at Central offers a large variety of courses as well as the ones that are required.

For sophomores English 10 is required. Sophomores obtain memorable experiences and gain valuable knowledge. Juniors take American literature and language arts and some have Honors English. Juniors and seniors also have many electives to choose from. These include individualized reading, creative writing, expository writing, media now, acting and stagecraft, and debate.

English instructors include Mrs. Doom, Mrs. Pritchard, Mr. Raikes, Mr. Williams, and Mr. Hetrick. Special congratulations are in order for Mrs. Pritchard and her new baby boy, and Mr. Williams and his new wife.

Science doesn't establish a method of reasoning like algebra or geometry; nor does it make you appreciate and understand life as English and history do. Rather, it is a unique blend of these; science is an art, where the canvas is knowledge, and the design, questions.

Home Economics

The Home Economics department offers many classes. Together, Mrs. Speer and Mrs. Vandenoever teach students the finer points of sewing in Clothing I and II. Also offered are: Child Development, which includes toddler parties, visits to day care and nursery centers, and speakers, cooking class, which offers a meal of roast turkey to the lucky teachers who had third lunch and were willing to take their chances, and Human Relations, where students were taught how to deal with the people around them.

ABOVE: "All right we tasted it, but do we have to swallow it?"

Special Education

Fitness Ensures Good Health

John Jackson whiffing at the mush ball.

Mollie Concon serving up an ace.

Physical education classes began with soccer for the boys and field hockey for the girls. This progressed into an overall fitness unit. The unit used Kenneth Cooper's fitness test of a twelve minute run to find out how fit you were. Miss Duncan allowed the girls to participate this year.

As the year advanced, it led to units in basketball, weight lifting, scooters, wrestling and aerobic dancing. When spring finally arrived and the physical education classes could get outside, units consisted of softball and tennis. These were the last units of the year and everyone was glad to turn in their padlocks.

Joel Riedesel takes control and races ahead of the pack. Deb Meier, hoping this one won't be a fault. Luanne Kedley and Cyndi Hunter stretching before their big field hockey match.

Ag Students Are Kept Busy

BELOW: Brent Martens, Jim Kuehn, Dean Gruhn, and Brad Ramer are displaying different stages of paying attention.

Vocational agriculture classes at Central offer a variety of knowledge and information which can be applied to practical farming and agriculture.

This year the sophomore class started with a unit on beef cattle production, followed by a unit on growth implantations in meat animals and a unit on pasture production. During the second semester, the sophomores practiced their tradition of hypothetically playing the Chicago Board of Trade. They finished the year with studies on crop production and weed identification. The production agriculture classes spent most of the fall studying soil erosion and conservation. Students built soil tables and practiced conservation on their own farms. In the winter they studied and discussed the new government Payment in Kind (PIK) program and its influence on ag economy both on the local and national levels. Second semester was started with a unit on nutrition, where students learned to balance feed rations and feed correct nutrients. This was followed by a unit on record keeping, and the year was finished with a study of crop production and use of chemicals in farming.

Industrial Arts

The industrial arts department has two instructors, Mr. Anderson and Mr. Turner. Classes available in this department include woodworking I and II, Auto Mechanics, Metals, and drafting I and II.

Both Mr. Anderson and Mr. Turner are distinguishable from their students as they have an over abundance of green clothing. At the same time, the two instructors are very different from each other. Mr. Turner, the one with the UNI belt-buckle, can't stop talking about wrestling, while Mr. Anderson's the short one with a little less hair than Mr. Turner.

In woodworking I, the students complete four projects during the year. It is a general information class where the students learn the basics of woodworking.

In woodworking II students work on more advanced, complicated projects. Drafting I and II follow the same guidelines, reaching perfection in their skills in drafting II. In metals class, students bend, form and pound their metals into beautiful projects, and in auto mechanics, students learn the finer points of the internal combustion engine.

Cruisin' with Driver's Education

Mr. Padgett "politely" asks Tim Meier not to lean on his car.

Anyone who wants to drive legally, experiences Driver's Education. Every student complains about the tests but soon forgets them once they receive their certificates.

Poor Mr. Padgett has his life in the hands of many squirrely sophomores. He has probably experienced every what-seemed-to-be-impossible driving task at least once. Ask him sometime how many times he has been in the ditch!

When it's all over Mr. Padgett prepares for next year and his "past" students prepare themselves for the highway.

Mr. Padgett borrows a 'bolt' from a neighboring car to replace the one that Tina Schwartz lost.

Driver's Ed students, Larry Burmeister, Paul Yoerger, and Lisa McGarry, learn the basics of a car's engine.

New Buildings

The students and two teachers in particular, have two new additions to enjoy. Mr. Smicker recieved an ag shop and classroom, while Mr. Turner watched in anxious anticipation while his wrestling room was being completed. Miss Eggleston was the only one that had anything to complain about. She had to put up with pounding, dust, hammering, and an ugly plywood wall while attempting to direct music. The students also had to suffer a little, they lost a few parking spaces in the fall.

Coaches Spangler and Fletcher also drooled over the new buildings. With the additions they will receive a much needed weight room for football and track.

Spanish — Language in the Learning

Spanish classes consist of Spanish I and II for beginners and Spanish III for advanced students at an individualized level. Spanish I and II are primarily based on vocabulary and grammar. Memorization is aided by games and Spanish bees.

A summer trip to Mexico is being planned by the students.

AFS — Busy As Usual

AFS was new and exciting for many new members this year. Some of the activities were building a homecoming float, going roller skating, skiing at Chestnut, and having nearby AFS students from Clinton and Camanache giving their slide and oral presentations of their home countries.

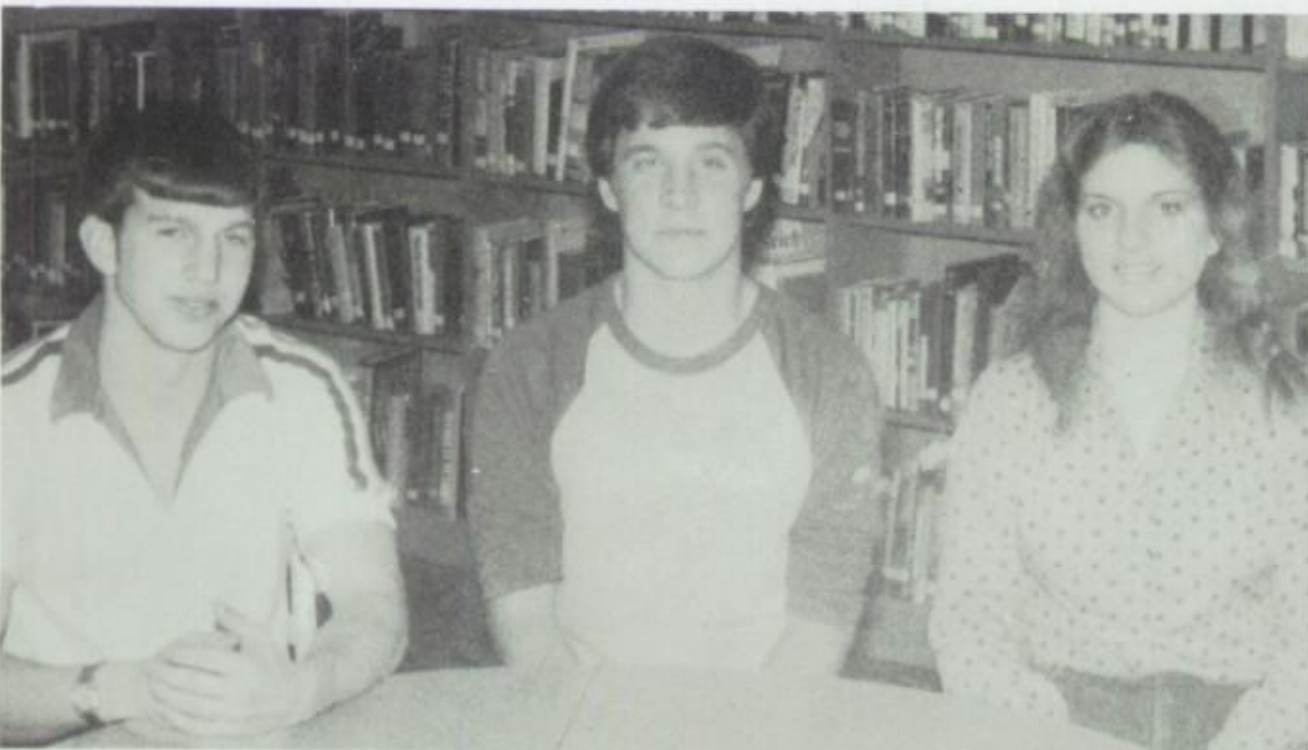

There was not an AFS weekend last fall but instead there was a bus stop in the summer when a bus load of AFS students from Minnesota on their way home, stopped here for several days over the 4th of July holiday. Everyone had a lot of fun and were disappointed to see them leave.

Tami Walker had spent the past summer in Denmark as AFS exchange student. Emmanuel Rosing, the AFS exchange student from Greenland arrived in August to spend the year. The second semester brought Elena Fonton, AFS exchange student from Italy, transferred to Central from Maquoketa.

Among other things the AFS club had a cheese and sausage sale instead of the usual candy sale to raise money for a trip to Chicago in April.

Science Club

Science club members are not the mad laboratory scientists their name implies. Rather, they are a group of curious and adventurous students seeking excitement built from a scientific basis. Though their meetings lacked refreshments and the treasury broke even (just), their year was flavored with a talk on the finer points of embalming by Red Hanrahan, an exclusive tour of the human body at Palmer College, and a fish-filled trip to Chicago. They were also treated with tips on how to keep smiling (Dr. Frommelt) and how to have a heart (Dr. and Carrie Ash).

Library Club

President: Krista Hurley
Vice President: Chris Jacobsen
Sec./Treasurer: Melissa Johnson

Besides checking out books and keeping the library running smoothly, the library club members were responsible for coat checks at the basketball games. These proceeds were used to fund the Green Space Project and provide for the fall hayrack ride, the Christmas party at Kimberly Smorgasbord, and the spring trip to Adventureland. Each year the busiest of these members is given the Outstanding Student Library Assistant Award. This year's winner was Krista Hurley.

The Central Chapter of the National Honor Society held its induction ceremony on Wednesday, May 11, 1983. Twenty-four new members were elected to the Society, the largest number inducted in recent years. The selection process for the Society was altered this year in an effort to pick candidates who met the qualifications of the Society — those being Scholarship, Service, Leadership, and Character.

The Society students continued the tradition of picnicking at West Brook City Park after the ceremony, a practice which was questioned by administrators because the students did not return to class.

Central FHA Stays Busy

BELOW: The FHA Homecoming float gave the recipe for Irish Stew.

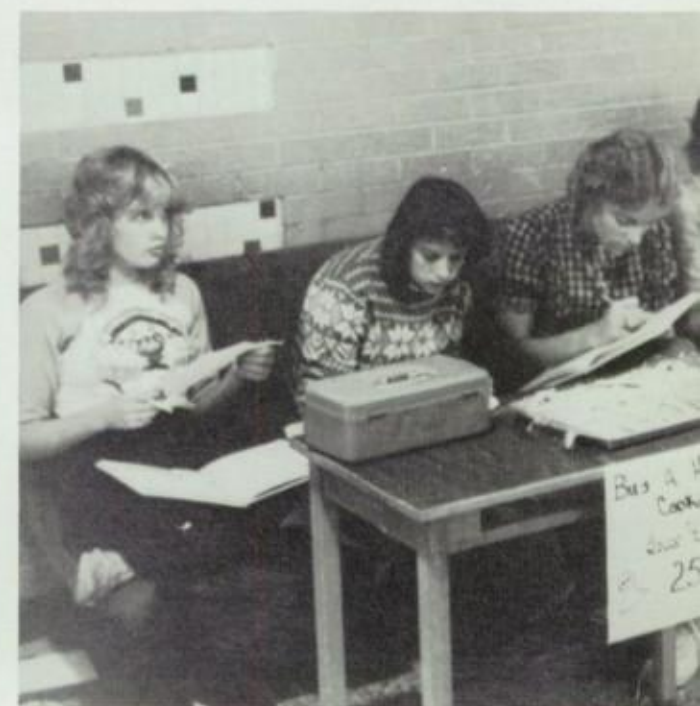

FHA stands for Future Homemakers of America. This year's group of Future Homemakers were kept busy by monthly activities. FHA entered a float in the Homecoming parade. They also sold Halloween cookies that were prepared by the members with the help of Mrs. Speer and Mrs. VanDenover. The club held a babysitting service at Ekstrand, Welton, and Grand Mound elementary schools during parent-teacher conferences. Other activities that took place were a Mary Kay make-up show, aerobic dance, caroling and cocoa in December, and a trip to Egad's restaurant. In January a dance was sponsored by the FFA and FHA. In March a style show was held that was sponsored by Brook's of Northpark. Two girls from each grade modeled many of the latest spring fashions. The freshman girls were invited to attend. The members helped serve at the annual FFA banquet to raise money for the club. To end off the year a bowling and pizza party was held. Thanks to Mrs. Speer and Mrs. VanDenover and the following officers the year was a success.

Student Council

The 1982-83 Student Council sponsored various activities throughout the school year to meet the needs and interests of the student body; these included Homecoming festivities, Christmas paraphernalia, student exchanges, and "A Day for Exploring Interests and Ideas."

The Student Council sponsor is Mr. Kastler. Officers were Ellen Wagener (Pres.), Bill Miller (Vice Pres.), Kelly Spangler (Sec.), and Lynn Potter (Treas.). Sophomore members were Kelly Anderson, Maureen Barber, Julie Dettmer, Lisa McGarry, and Jan Penningroth. Junior members were Colleen Burke, Dave Burke, Joel Dierickx, Luanne Kedley, and Kelly Spangler. Senior members were Kirk Azinger, Tracie Fey, Bill Miller, Lynn Potter, Pat Rheingans, Don Salyars, Kelly Stiles, Ellen Wagener, Peggy Driscoll, and Lisa Hasenmiller.

Mortician "Red" Hanrahan, Iowa Athletic Rep. Bob Rayles, and free-lance artist Terry Rathje are just a sample of the career guests for "A Day for Exploring Interests and Ideas, 1983." This special day, sponsored by the Student Council, was set aside on April 16 for students and faculty to explore career opportunities, hobbies and listen to spokespersons from each topic.

The day opened with a large assembly presented by Nick Tarpian's School of Karate, followed by individual career presentations throughout the school. Students spent the lunch hour dancing in the gym and eating sack lunches prepared by the cooks. The remainder of the day was spent investigating and speaking with our guests.

FFA Moves into New Building

The DeWitt Chapter of FFA began their year in the usual fashion by attending the State Fair in Des Moines. There they were a very dominant force. They placed 12 of the top 19 derby pigs out of 265 eligible chapters, while taking 7 out of the top 10 and 4 of the top 5 in grand reserve. The Livestock judging team placed 5th while the Dairy judging team placed 6th. The chapter also had the distinction of having 4 state farmer degrees, while only half the schools in the state qualified one. Neal Soenksen was named a state officer, the first one from DeWitt in 47 years.

The group was also named the top chapter in Sub-District based on a point total from all contests during the year. They won 5 of the judging contests that they went to.

They won more proficiency awards than any other chapter in the state. The Carrol Plager Award, for premier breeder pigs, also remained in DeWitt for the second straight year.

At the Austin Convention in Minnesota, they placed 7th in the nation in swine judging.

At the FFA banquet in April Wendi Fatchett was named President; Rob Cousins, Vice-President; Dennis Campbell, Treasurer; Maureen Barber, Secretary; Ron Lippens, Sentinel; Brad Ramer, Reporter; Jill Tobey, Historian.

The Central Community High School Band, under the direction of Ed McMahon performed many concerts throughout the year for the entertainment and enjoyment of many listeners. They received a II rating at state contest with "Prelude and Rondo" and "Symphonic Tryptich." (Tryptich, by the way, is a type of musical composition).

The Concert Band was also honored by having its first horn player, Duane Young, chosen to the all-state orchestra.

Band Overcomes Adverse Conditions

Once again the Saber Marching band enjoyed a great marching season. The band entertained audiences with powerful selections like "Aztec Fire" and "Dramatic Opener" as well as popular favorites "Still" and "The Pink Panther."

The band traveled to Pleasant Valley this year to share in the half-time performance. During this outing band members had to endure cold weather and drink punch that tasted like baby aspirin. The members also had to endure 98 degree heat during the Homecoming parade. Add to that the fact that the parade route was altered, the band also had to endure an extremely long parade.

Despite all these hardships, the band always performed well. At the Indoor Marching Concert they ended their season with a rundown of the songs they performed throughout the season and then had their annual presentation of awards. This year's Charlie Award was received by Squad E, whose members included Tammy Lindstrom (squad leader), Mollie Condon, Linda Hess and Melissa Martin.

The most memorable event of the 1982 marching season occurred during one particularly cold and rainy half-time. Director Ed McMahon was heard shouting, "Get the h--- off the field!"

Jazz Bands Have Busy Year

Once again this year the Swingin' Sabers Jazz Ensemble was divided into two bands. Throughout the year both bands performed at various in and out of school activities. The bands played at the Christmas concert, during breaks at girls basketball games, at the Farmers Appreciation banquet, the Pork Producers banquet, and the Honors banquet. The group also traveled to Linn-Mar High School to watch the state jazz band competition. At the annual Music Boosters banquet, Ann Harrington was awarded the Louis Armstrong Jazz Award for outstanding jazz band students.

Everybody Sing

This year's Sophomore Chorus had a different twist than in the previous years at Central. The 1982-83 Sophomore Chorus was comprised solely of girls — 44 girls to be exact. This year for the first time the Sophomore boys were moved up to the Mixed Chorus to enlarge the male section.

The accompanists were Beth Gannon and Angie Wulf.

A Year of Change for CCHS Mixed Chorus

This year's Mixed Choir, under the direction of Carolyn Eggleston, was composed of seventy-two people. For the first time, the choir included five Sophomore boys who helped out in the tenor and baritone sections. They performed a great variety of songs ranging from their own memorable version of "Used Car Lot" and "A Wonderful Day Like Today" to more serious numbers such as "Glory of the Father" and "Let's Begin Again."

The Choir performed at the Christmas concert, the Pops concert, the Big Bend Conference Festival, the Spring concert, Commencement, and a number of the Choir members participated in the AA Large Group Contest at St. Ambrose.

Officers of the Choir were Ellen Wagener, President, Kelly Spangler, Vice-President, and Marcia Dalton, Secretary.

'Fruitcake' — It's Just "One of Those Songs"

The Chamber Singers, under the direction of Carolyn Eggleston, maintained a busy schedule. They sang at the Christmas Concert, Pops Concert, and the Spring Vocal Concert. They also sang for numerous community groups primarily during the Christmas season. The group received a division I rating at contest held at Cedar Rapids Jefferson.

Members of the group included Rob Beer, Andy Bently, Marcia Dalton, James Dierickx, Tami Flammang, Kathy Hansen, Ann Harrington, Jill Henricksen, Linda Martin, Wendy Maynard, Rick McCulloh, Lynn Potter, Kelly Spangler, Amy Speer, Mark Sperry, Ellen Wagener, and Alan Wichert.

Saber Girls Are Comin' on Strong!

The 1982 Saber Softball team had a very successful season. The girls finished the season with an overall record of 14-17, while finishing 3rd in the conference with a 9-5 slate. The Sabers finished behind Pleasant Valley and Bellevue respectively in the Big Bend Conference.

The 1982 squad had no seniors, but had a strong base with 9 returning letter winners from the '81 campaign. Coach Rippentrop cited the team as a hard working group of girls. He emphasized the fact that the '82 team had no seniors, and he is very optimistic about the 1983 season.

The 1982 season produced 11 letter winners. They were: Sheila Hansen, Kelly Stiles, Nancy Frommelt, Lisa Hasenmiller, Kathy Ostert, Lynn Potter, Amy Speer, Cyndi Hunter, Colleen Burke, Kendra Mosier, and Sheila Kagemann. Colleen Burke and Sheila Hansen were both named to all-state squads. Colleen received honorable mention as both an outfielder and pitcher, while Sheila received honorable mention for her play at third base. Several Sabers received all-conference awards. They were: Colleen Burke (1st team outfield), Sheila Hansen (1st team 3rd base), Kelly Stiles (2nd team pitcher), Lynn Potter (2nd team, 2nd base), and Kendra Mosier (2nd team, utility).

Young Sabers Look Forward to Next Year

BELOW: Rick Haack readies himself for the incoming pitch.

The 1982 Saber baseball team was a very inexperienced ball club with only two returning starters filling in from the 1981 season. The team was very competitive despite lack of experience. The senior pitching staff had to rely on a basically underclass infield and outfield to carry the defensive load.

The team's overall record was 12-20. In the Big Bend the team had a 6-8 record which was good enough to capture 6th place.

The Sabers won the first game of the district by beating Camanche 3-1 and then lost to Maquoketa 12-1 in the second round.

Sophomore Baseball 1982

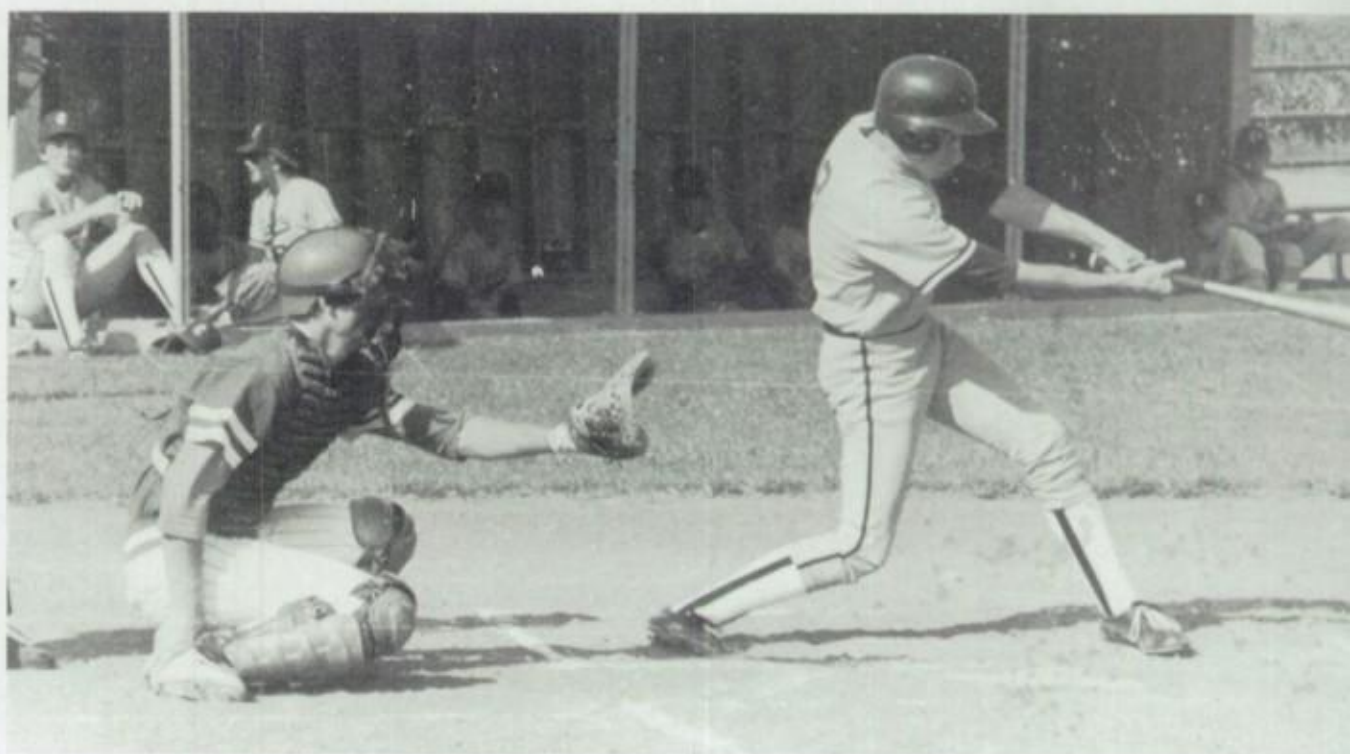

The 1982 Saber Sophomore baseball team completed their regular season with a 9-15 record. The Sabers endured a tough schedule, but the athletes never gave up. Pitching was a major weakness for the sophomores, but consistent hitting won many games for them. The team's combined RBI total was an impressive 350.

Four talented sophomores were moved up to the varsity. Scott Grau, Mark Christoffersen, Joel Dierickx, and Brian Bowman all contributed to the varsity cause in the District tournament.

The sophomore volleyball team was one which was few in number this year. There were a total of nine girls at the end of the season.

The Sabers started the season with an easy win over Davenport Central, then had a bit of bad luck, as they lost their next five games. The team finished second in the Clinton tournament and third in the North Scott. Their overall record was 7 wins, 8 losses and 2 ties. Their Big Bend record was 2-5.

The 1982 volleyball team finished with a match record of 25-5-1, the best ever by a Central team. The team's success was recognized by the Iowa Girls Athletic Union, as they were rated within the "Top 10" for most of the season. In the final rankings of the season, the girls were ranked 5th in Class 2A.

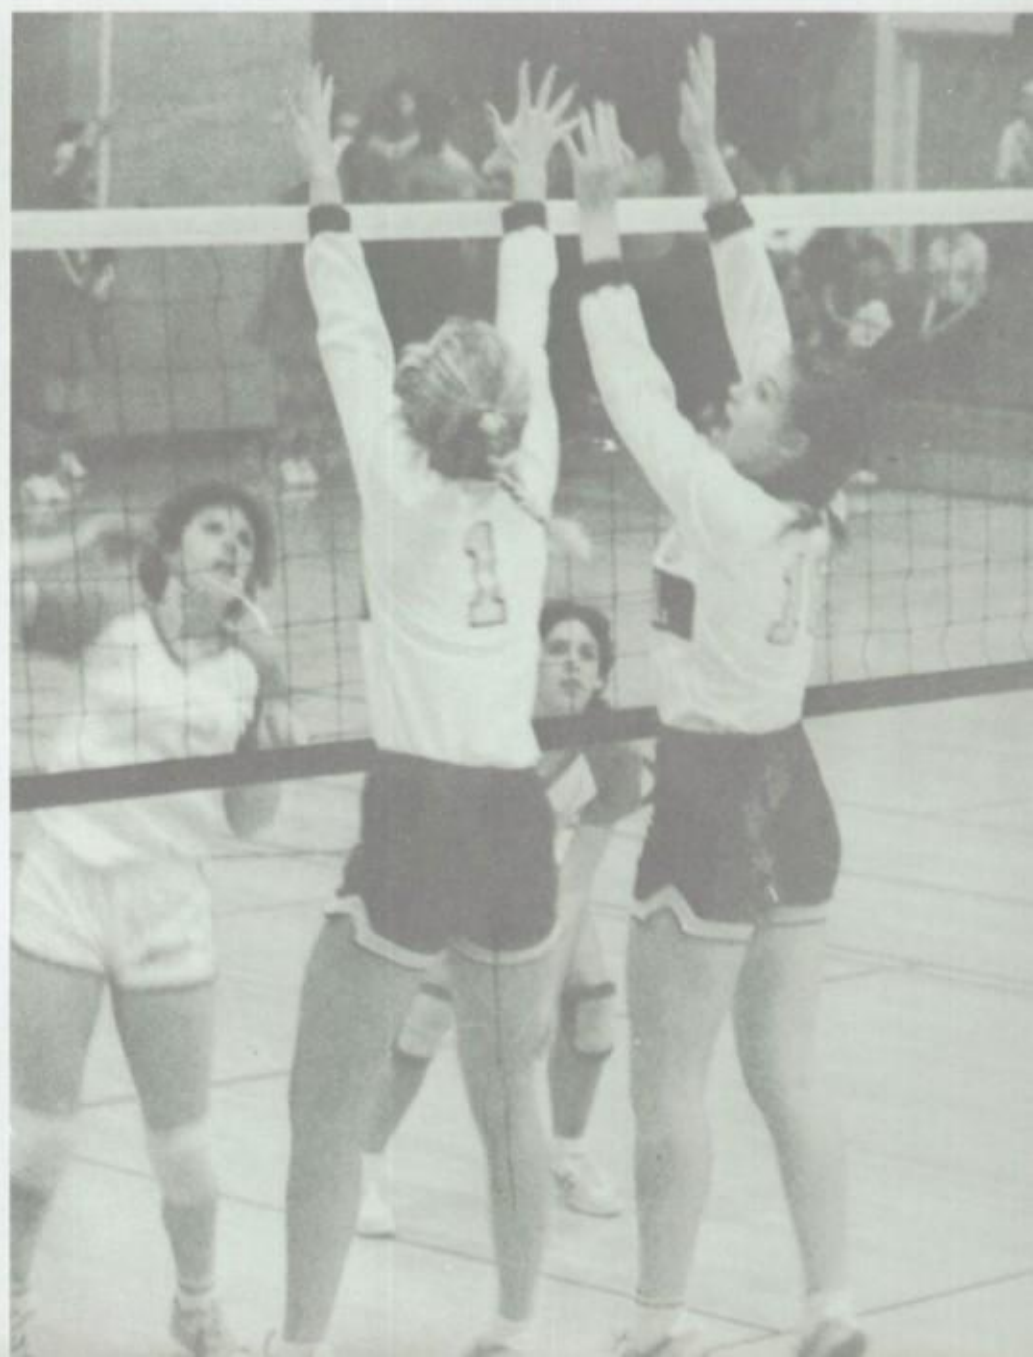

During the course of the season, the team won more tournaments than any other school in the state of Iowa. The girls won the Muscatine, Lancer, Clinton and Lincoln tournaments.

Coach Pam Duncan attributed much of the team's success to their hard work during the off-season. She also said the team worked hard during practice sessions, and they got along very well.

The Sabers fell short of the state tournament, losing to Clinton in the District tournament.

The Central Girl's Cross Country team hit the roads early this year in anticipation of their second season of competition. With the addition of a fifth runner, the full team enjoyed success at several dual meets and invitational. Constant effort and hard work paid off in solid thirds at the Muskie Invitational and the Conference Meet, as well as a perfect dual-meet record.

Graduation will hit the team hard this year as four of the five team members are seniors. Coach Hetrick expressed hope that the girl's cross country program will continue to grow and gain new people to fill those spots vacated by seniors.

In only its second year of existence, the cross country program has made great strides. The team placed 2nd at the conference meet and 3rd at districts. The team qualified for the state meet and placed 11th. At the end of the year, the team held a party where they presented Mr. Hetrick with a long awaited pair of running shoes.

The 1982 sophomore football squad finished their season with a 4-5 record. Although not above 500 Coach Williams was very pleased with his team's overall effort. "This team had a lot to overcome with injuries and size but there certainly wasn't a lack of desire. They never quit and always played hard when it counted."

The team was hot and cold all season. They started out with an impressive 10-6 victory over Maquoketa, who eventually finished the season 8-1, but suffered 4 conference losses. Still they managed to end the season holding on to third place in the Big Bend.

Sabers Are Third in Conference

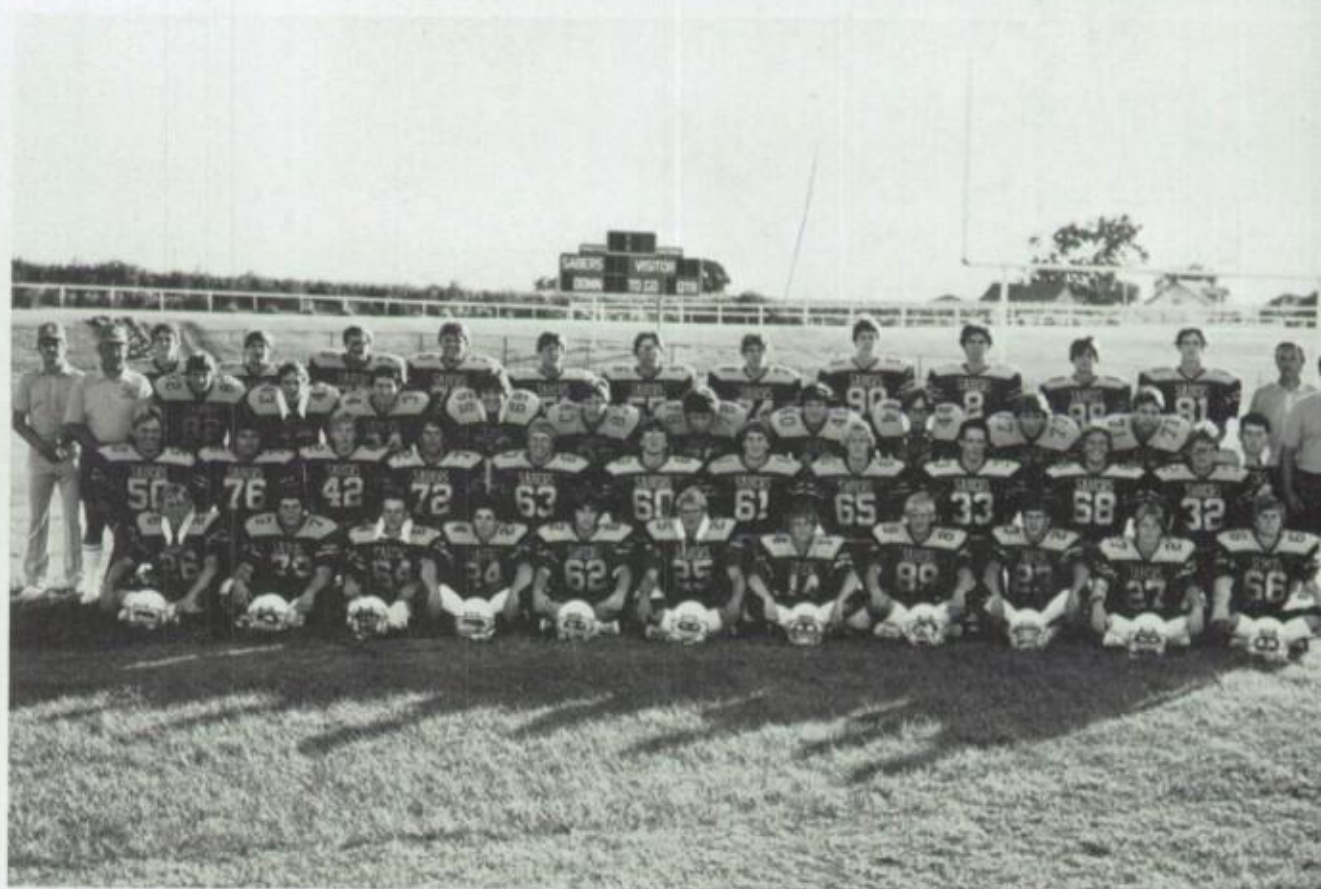

The 1982 football season was full of ups and downs for the players, coaches, and fans. The Sabers got off to a slow start, losing their first four games, all to rugged opponents. The Sabers often fell victim to the big play and were unable to capitalize on their opponent's mistakes.

Despite losing to Pleasant Valley, the game was the turning point of the season. The Sabers won their last five games — outscoring their opponents 150-17. The team finished 5-4 overall and 5-2 in the Big Bend earning them third place.

Six players received post-season awards. Darin Arey was named 1st Team All-Conference as both a running back and linebacker. Mark Green was also selected to the 1st Team as an offensive tackle. Three Central players were voted to the 2nd Team; Kevin Crosthwaite — offensive end, Scott Meland — running back, and Pat Rheingans — defensive back. D Jay Necker received Honorable Mention as a running back.

The Saber team always worked hard, as evident by their final five games, and they should be proud, as they overcame much adversity throughout the season.

Saber Girls Set Ten Records

The 1982-83 Saber girls basketball team broke ten team and individual records. Leading the team with individual records was junior forward Colleen Burke. She set three records: best field goal percentage for a single game (78%), most points scored in a season (523), and most career points (1,019). Junior Sheila McGarry set a new free throw standard for a single game, hitting 7 of 7 from the line. Senior guard Robin Fisher set two records: most blocked shots in one game (11), and most blocked shots in a season (63).

Colleen Burke and Robin Fisher were named to the All-Eastern Iowa team, Colleen as fourth team forward, Robin received Special Mention. Both girls were named Honorable Mention on the All-State team.

Sabers Fourth in Tough League

The 1982-83 Saber girls basketball team finished the season with a 7-12 overall record. The girls finished fourth in the Big Bend Conference with a 6-8 slate. This year's league race was very competitive. The Sabers lost many games by close scores hence their record is somewhat deceiving. The Sabers were eliminated by Pleasant Valley in the first round of Sectionals.

Three Sabers received post-season recognition. Colleen Burke was named first team All-Conference forward, Robin Fisher was named first team All-Conference guard, and Sheila McGarry received Honorable Mention. Colleen Burke and Robin Fisher were also named to the All-State Honorable Mention.

Sophomores

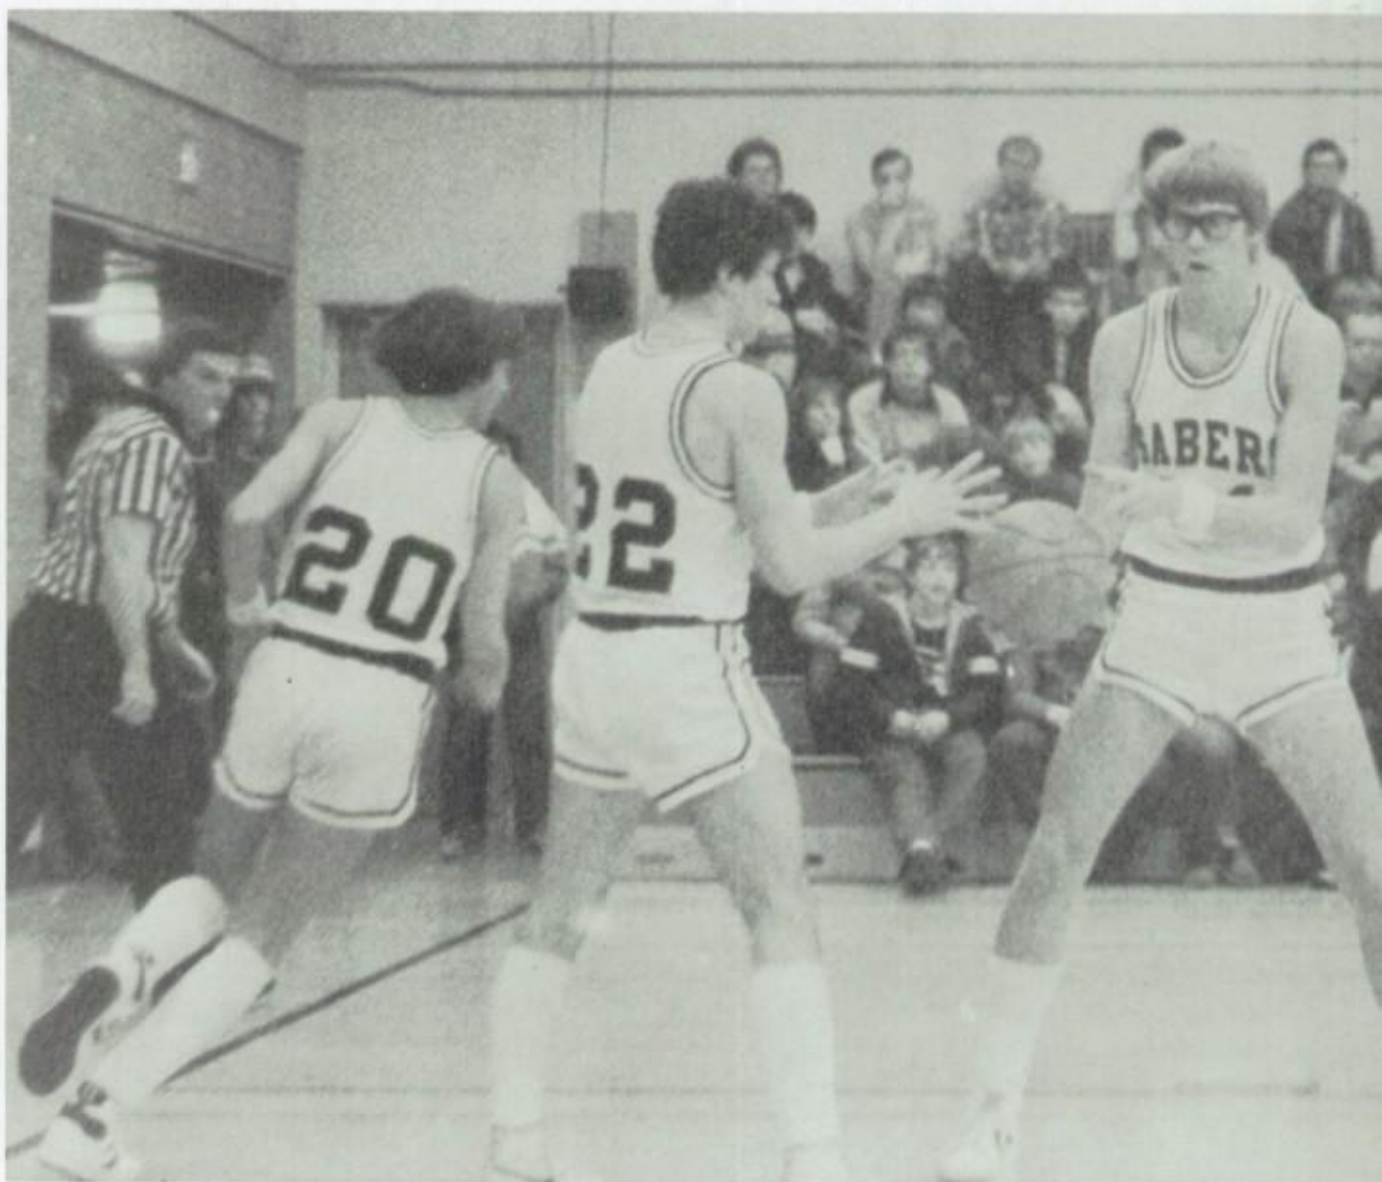

Finish

The sophomore boys basketball team completed the season with an 8-9 overall record. They finished the season 7-7 in the Big Bend Conference. Their conference record was good enough to earn them a tie for 5th place in a very balanced league race where six of the eight teams were .500 or above in loop contests.

Guard Brian Bowman led the team in scoring for virtually all games and was the team leader in total scoring with 297 points. Dan Fedderson led the team in rebounds with 128, almost twice as many as anyone else on the team. As a team the sophomores outshot their opponents from the field and free-throw line. They also maintained a higher points per game average than their opponents.

Sabers Complete Satisfying Season

The 1982-83 boys basketball team rode a roller coaster of highs and lows. The season included several winning and losing streaks. The longest winning streak was five, and the longest losing streak lasted three games. The Sabers battled many highly-touted opponents including 3A state champ Linn-Mar and 2A state runner-up Maquoketa.

The Sabers' season came to a close with their disappointing loss to West Liberty in the District championship. The team compiled an 11-10 overall record and an 8-6 conference record, giving them a tie for fourth place.

The conference was very well balanced, a fact indicated by the standings and the Sabers' average point spread of +1.7. The Sabers also had the second best defensive average in the conference.

Kuehn made the Iowa Daily Press Association Honorable Mention squad, and received the same position on the Des Moines Register cage team. The Quad-City Times recognized him as a Second Team member on their All-Eastern Iowa unit for small schools.

Wrestlers Have Successful Season

Although suffering disappointing setbacks in the early part of their season, this year's Saber grapplers eventually jelled into a very tough team. The Sabers compiled a 4-3-1 dual meet record and captured second place at the Conference Wrestling Meet. The team placed second at Sectionals with Dennis Campbell (105 lbs.), Kirk Azinger (126 lbs.), and Don Salyars (Hwt.) all winning first place. Marty King (185 lbs.) earned second place honors and Rich Azinger (138 lbs.) placed third.

Don Salyars and Kirk Azinger advanced to the state tournament in Des Moines. Azinger placed fifth in the 126 lb. class equalling his previous year's performance. Salyars won first place in the Heavyweight division, the first Saber wrestler to do so since 1967. "It's a dream I've had for a long time that's finally come true," declared Salyars after it all came to a triumphant close.

The Central team placed an overall fourth in a field of eight teams. Coach Turner commented, "The team showed well. A little more tournament experience and we'll be ranking more champions. Lisbon, the Invitational winner, wrestled at its best."

Sophs Are Conference Champions

The 1983 sophomore track team was very successful in reaching the goals they had set for themselves. These included defending their conference title and placing well at Morrison. The surprise of the season came at Tipton when the fresh-sophs outdistanced the field to win the fresh-soph Tiger relays. The Sabers captured second place at the Morrison fresh-soph relays and raced to their second consecutive Big Bend Conference title.

Thunderstorms Cause Early End to Relay

Running in somewhat less than perfect weather, the 10th annual Saber Relays was not a record-breaking event. Eventually five events were cancelled due to thunderstorms. Because of this, for the first time in its history, no team champion was crowned.

When the relays were cancelled, three year defending champion North Scott was leading the field with the Sabers in second.

The Sabers ended with two gold medal finishes. Rick Haack topped the mile run field turning in a time of 4:46.5, while the distance medley team of D. Jay Necker, Scott Meland, Larry Burken, and Matt McGuire was clocked at 11:32.6.

Jim Kuehn, Central's high jumper, tied for second with a leap of 5'10". Also finishing second was the 480 hi-lo shuttle hurdle relay team of Tony Cox, Jon Knudsen, Jim Kuehn, and Pat Rheingans.

Other top finishers for the Sabers included Larry Burken, who placed fourth in the 2-mile run, Brian Klinefelter, who placed fifth in the long jump, and Jeff Poell, who placed fifth in the discus.

Girls Track — Best Season Ever

The girls track team — the "Raisins" — looked sharp this year as they flew to several new records. Team captain, Nancy Frommelt led the spirited team through practices and meets, eventually completing the best overall season record ever.

Placing third at the Tipton Relays and Big Bend Conference, second at their own Central Relays, First at the Cammanche Indian Relays, the team finally qualified nine girls for the state meet. "The Iron Maidens"

A rather inexperienced girls golf team, affectionately known throughout the Conference as the infamous "Ironmaidens," launched their career under the supervision of Coach Pam Kennedy. Team members looked to returning letterperson, Mollie Condon for guidance and support, but found much more.

An unexpected swim in the lake for Ellen, "fruit salad" refreshments following a grueling dual in DeWitt Park, and "driving" over a bog of clubs, all added up to a fourth place finish at the conference golf meet and sixth at sectionals.

Molley Condon placed an individual 5th at Conference and 3rd at Sectionals. The 1983 lettermen included Molly Condon, Ellen Wagener, Anne Campbell, and Kim Albers.

Coach Kennedy commented, "Although we never won a meet, we did show improvement. I hope the girls will continue to play after high school."

"Oh, sure Mollie, just because you're always the medalist doesn't mean you get to pull the flag."

Lexie Howe, "Who says sailors have more fun? I've got a happy putter and my golf balls have dimples."

Mindy Places 10th at State

Central gymnastics is now in its second year of existence with sophomore Mindy Taylor as the lone Saber gymnast. Throughout her season Mindy participated in meets held at Clinton High and Davenport Assumption due to lack of facilities at Central.

Mindy earned her way to the state meet for the second straight year, where she placed second in the tumbling event with a score of 9.35. Her combined score in the five events (vault, uneven parallel bars, floor exercise, balance beam, and tumbling) was good enough to earn her tenth place in the all-around.

Larry Benson Returns Home

The Spring Play, "The Life and Death of Larry Benson" was a three-act drama modeled after the TV series of the 1950's. The plot involves a young man who comes home to his family from the Korean War after three years just to find that nobody recognizes him. The young man seems to know everything about the Benson family including secrets that only the real Larry Benson could have known. Dispersing the confusion, the play finally reveals that the young soldier who claimed to be Larry Benson was actually a war buddy of Larry's who had no family of his own. Danny Holmes, the true identity of the soldier, concludes that Larry Benson had died in his arms in Korea.

With the close of the 1982-83 school year, we rewind to highlight Central happenings. Deep recession continues across the nation as six Central faculty members were dismissed from their positions due to budget cutbacks. The job outlook for graduates is questionable.

Americans continue to look to El Salvador with anxious visions of a Vietnam replay. The Middle East remains a controversial political scene full of argumentations and despair while President Reagan retains an arbitrator attitude throughout conferences. Will there ever be a peace settlement for the East?

In the spring of '83, all eyes looked skyward for NASA's new space shuttle, the Challenger. The quest to conquer man's final frontier continues.

It Was a Busy Year

Construction was completed on the new vo-ag facility and the band and physical education buildings were begun with the completion date set for the 1983-84 school opening.

The girls basketball team completed their winningest season ever, entering tournament play with a 7-12 record. The boys basketball team experienced an up and down season with a final 11-10 record. Two Central wrestlers, Hwt. Don Salyars and 126 pounder Kirk Azinger, qualified for the state meet. Salyars brought home the 2A championship amongst cheers of congratulations. The girls track team placed in five 2A State Track events, while the boys qualified for seven and captured the District title. While neither the girls nor the boys golf teams had exceptional seasons, both showed continued improvement throughout. Shock waves spread through Iowa as U of I Basketball coach Lute Olson announced his resignation and new post as head basketball coach at Arizona. Will the Iowa Hawkeyes ever be the same?

Lots of Activity

Lt. Governor Terry Branstad was elected governor in November after a heated campaign. Branstad acted upon several campaign promises, including a veto on raising Iowa's legal drinking age to twenty-one.

"Gandhi" was named the year's best picture, while newly released "Return of the Jedi" is sure to be a blockbuster hit. The likes of Toto, Def Leppard, Sammy Hagar, Brian Adams, Styx, and Michael Jackson occupied the pop charts during the latter course of the year.

Central students entertained record crowds at the variety show "Under the Big Top." Several students took part in the show; some acts were quite memorable, especially the KPBY crew. "A Day for Exploring Interests and Ideas" was held April 16. Special guests included Nick Tarpian's School of Karate, and mortician "Red" Hanrahan. Students danced in the gym during lunch — a dance that was a warm-up for the prom "An Evening in Paris" held April 23.

The mixed choir under the direction of Miss Eggleston sang "Out Here on My Own," and "Dream a Dream." The concert band, directed by Mr. McMahon, performed a pre-Commencement concert and provided music for the processional and recessional.

Larry Burken was named class Valedictorian, and Marcia Dalton was awarded class Salutatorian.

This Has Been a Recording

RIGHT: Ellen Wagener tries to coax the ball into the cup. BELOW: Kathleen Gimbel and Linda Meyer clown around before running in a track meet.

On May 24, 1983, one hundred seventy-two seniors walked across the stage to receive the key to their future. Some greeted this proud moment with beaming smiles while others cried tears of joy, or was it fear? Whichever it may have been, time moved on. The following day went on as usual for sophomores and juniors until the final book was closed. These events have been recorded. Stop. Eject.

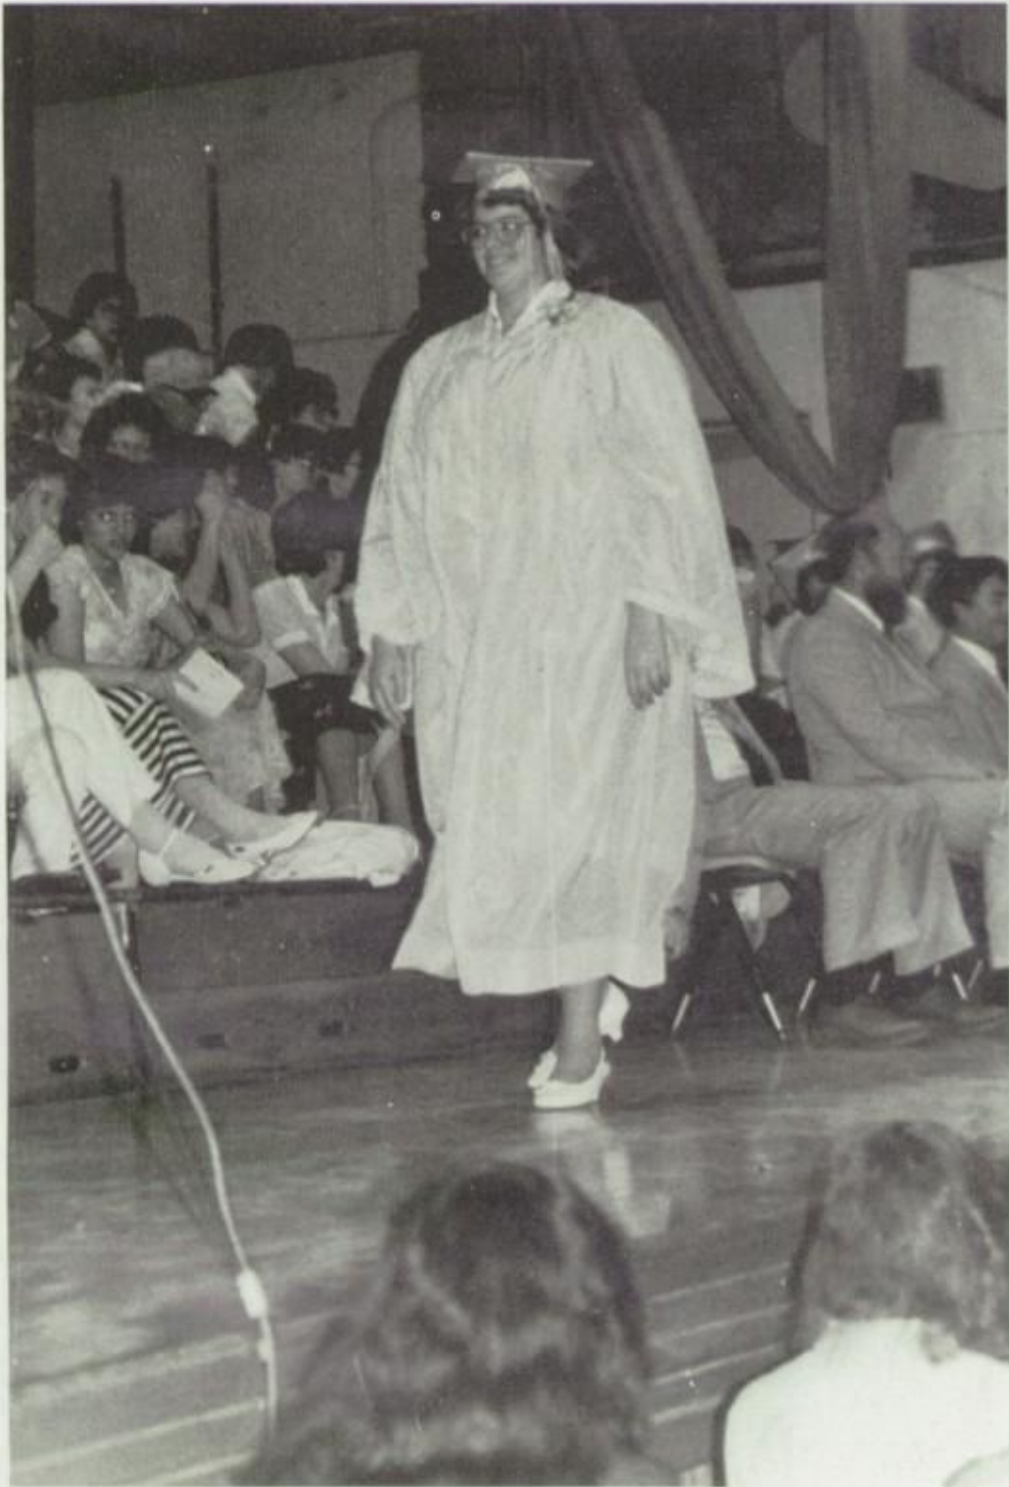

RIGHT: Kelly Kimmer has all the necessary equipment for her history project.
